BISHOP PERSICO'S PRAYER FOR THE SELECTION OF THE NEW BISHOP FOR THE DIOCESE OF ERIE

O Almighty God,
Pour forth the Holy Spirit upon the Holy Father and those who assist him in the discernment of our new bishop.
May the one chosen have the strength to be a compassionate leader, who models humility and joy.
Grant him the wisdom of Solomon, the courage of the apostles, and the tenderness of your Son, the Good Shepherd.
We also pray for the Diocese of Erie that he is called to serve.
May we welcome him with open hearts and work with him in a spirit of synodality, called to listen, collaborate, and build unity.
Through the intercession of the Blessed Virgin Mary, Mother of the Church, St. Joseph, the protector of the Church, and St. Patrick, the patron of our diocese, may we journey the path of life with an unwavering focus on the hope we have in Christ.
For he lives and reigns forever and ever.
Amen.

The Most Reverend Lawrence T. Persico, J.C.L
Bishop of Erie

A WORD FROM FATHER TOM

My Dear Brothers and Sisters,

On this First Sunday of Advent, we tune in on an Emergency 911 call from the Prophet Isaiah to God in our first reading. There has been some serious straying from God's ways and we hear some serious confessing to go with it. Then while reminding God about the divine identity, the whining begins, or is it praying? Hard to tell sometimes.

The whole reading is somewhat of a yes-no, or we-are and we are not and as for God, once God is angry and then he is a father. The Prophet seems to be looking first at one side and then turns it all over. Ultimately, God is the potter and we are the clay. We want to be found by God while we are doing good things, but we are all the work of your hands.

The verses we hear in today's Gospel are taken from an entire chapter dedicated to Jesus telling his disciples about the coming distractions. It is lucky for our spirits that we do not hear the whole chapter. It deals with disasters and wars and terrible natural misfortunes of which we read and hear about every day. We should pray often for peace and justice in this world, but for this First Sunday in Advent we are invited to pray about his coming in the midst of all these.

It is a bit strange that while we are praying to prepare for his coming, Jesus is speaking about his leaving. The disciples are reminded that they have tasks to do and a basic attitude of watchfulness to preserve. After hearing about all the horrific things which are going to take place it will seem that God has abandoned them and us.

It is helpful to remember that this Gospel by Mark was written for a community in Rome under tremendous persecution. This particular chapter is an encouragement to the members to stay faithful by staying busy yet prayerful. These are verses for those who assume that faith in Jesus allows a subtraction from human misery and natural discouragement. Watching and staying alert are invitations to keep praying and stayingattentive to the news around us and the spirit within us.

I have a friend who when leaving a group gathering, while heading for the door will say, "It may appear as if I were leaving". It always makes people laugh. Jesus is saying the same thing to us. Pain, troubles, worries, confusion and all other kinds of natural, physical and spiritual sufferings can move us to feel alone and even abandoned. There are all these terrible things going on in our world and our lives these days and we can hear Jesus say, "It may appear that I am leaving". What we pray with these days of Advent is He may appear at any time, no, at every time if we have the faith-eyes to hold on and hold out. There just are times when the promised green of the Advent wreath and the candles of light are not as visible as the darkness of the empty hole. For some of us, waiting and watching is what life is. Faith is the believing in the promised and the Promiser.

The grass, bushes and trees in our part of the world speak to us of the passing and the approaching. Advent for us comes at a great time in nature. It is darkening and nothing isgrowing except our expectation of Jesus promised arrival at a time we do not have in ourcalanders. Is the empty really empty or full of promise?

Yours in Christ,

Fr. Tom
